

In my opinion the three R's are to use less of some thing, to use an item again, and to make new items from old ones.

In my opinion, recycling is the most important thing in the world to do, it's not what it costs, it's not the energy wasted that matters it's what we get when we do it but happens when we don't do it. This poster represents the message that world is coming to an end, NO it's not that a meteor is going to hit or that Donald Trump is going to blow up the world that is not the case. it's just that we do not want to be something in WALL-E.

I think the three Rs are important because, it helps people when they do it for their community and the world I mean if they don't the world will end.

I have done recycling by recycling Pop cans, bottles and by putting the things that are supposed to be recycled.

The Moral of The Drawing...

We need to recycle because we dont know when the world will turn black because we lack the knowledge of Recycling.

I think the three R are important to me because we wouldn't pollute the whole earth.

When I recycle I reduce the amount of garbage. And I do not just recycle and reduce I reuse.

LOOK at your pants...

Look at them

Look at them now...

That's right! your clothes are probably made of plastic bottles, so if you enjoy clothes, RECYCLE! I personally compost by feeding food scraps to our chickens, and we take our recycling to a recycling depot.
